

OUR MISSION:

BLLAR is a nonprofit organization focused on rescuing stray, abandoned and abused animals domestically and internationally. We rely solely on fundraising and monthly donations to exist. Our president and board of directors receive no compensation, no stipends, no housing allowance, and no reimbursements.

We have our own sanctuary based in Yaroslav Oblast, Russian Federation.

Our goal is to rescue and shelter, rehabilitate, home, and raise awareness of the ever-growing plight of stray and abused animals throughout Russia. The reality is that most are killed, tortured and abused, and some are rescued by BLLAR. Street dogs are euthanized every day because the government considers them a nuisance, and tortured by citizens out of boredom or for fun.

We help the neediest ones - seniors, purr pies, blind, paralyzed, ill tempered, and tripods. Some have been residents since the sanctuary establishment in 2020 and will remain lifelong residents.

Our mission at BLLAR is as follows:

- maintain a no-kill refuge that will provide a shelter for unwanted animals until a time that they may be adopted to qualified homes;
- provide long-term care for those animals not appropriate for adoption;
- provide foster homes for those animals unable to live in a shelter;
- provide necessary veterinary care;
- improve the temperament of those animals who are ill-tempered by training programs;
- aid in the rescue and rehabilitation of abused and abandoned animals;
- place rescued and homeless animals into permanent adoptive homes;
- advocate for animal welfare in the community
